

ILO visits Esoffflow

On July 13, a delegation from the International Labour Organization paid a visit to Esoffflow to learn more about Esoffflow's work with people with disabilities. CEO of Esoffflow, Thomas Frisenberg shared his learnings and experience in successfully integrating disabled people into the company's operations. The inputs will be used to establish case studies for the ILO and other organizations to use in promoting the idea of companies taking a bigger social responsibility for helping disabled people entering the labour market in Vietnam and beyond.

July 15, 2010